Create and operate stores for international markets without the need for additional resources.

Address every aspect of cross-border commerce

When companies start pursuing international markets, their first step is often translating content. But localization goes beyond translation! When you're selling in new regions, you also need to consider colors, time zones, dates, cultural characteristics, currency, pricing, taxes, shipping and payment preferences, not to mention different operations and business models.

But that doesn't mean selling to new geographies has to be a complex, overwhelming task! Intershop allows you to tackle every crucial aspect of international e-commerce – from website creation and product information to inventory management and shipping – through one highly configurable platform. Languages, currencies, tax regulations, and time zones, for example, can all be managed individually for regional channels. You can also adapt your content management to local standards.

Show your buyers you truly understand their needs

With the Intershop Commerce Platform, you cannot only offer your products and services quickly in new regions and countries, but also build lasting relationships with your customers. This already starts with the first search query. Another benefit is the positive impact on your SEO ranking. It really helps your target audience to find you.

By creating a personalized regional shopping experience with localized text, images, measurements, billing options, and more, you show that you understand your buyers' unique needs and business. Not only does this help you attract new customers, but it's also a winning formula for increasing customer loyalty.

Manage your global presence with one user-friendly platform

With a huge range of integrated features and templates, Intershop makes it easy for business users to manage your entire international commerce experience. Quickly set up multiple online stores and touchpoints from one central location, then customize the content, catalogs, and services for each region. You can also assign different permissions and regions to individual users to meet the different responsibilities and authorities within your organization.

In addition, Intershop's extensive list of APIs ensures easy integration with other essential platforms and services, from email marketing and CRM systems to shipping and payment providers.
